Outline

- Open access repositories
 - The context
- Overview of open access repository lists
 - What are they used for?
- OpenDOAR's facilities
- ROAR's facilities
- Searching the content of OA repositories
- Mashing up OpenDOAR and ROAR

How many repositories are there?

- OpenDOAR – 1462 records
 - Directory of Open Access Repositories
 - SHERPA, University of Nottingham, UK
- ROAR – 1451 records
 - Registry of Open Access Repositories
 - EPrints.org, University of Southampton, UK
- Other OA Repository lists
 - Bielefeld's BASE search engine – 1366 records
 - OAlster – 1139 records
 - OAI Registered Data Providers – 1120 records
- DOAJ - Directory of Open Access Journals

Uses of OpenDOAR & ROAR

- Finding open access repositories
- Analysis of repositories' features
- Statistics for Open Access advocacy
- Funding policy decisions
- Searching the content of OA repositories
- Source lists for harvesters
 - Search services – e.g. Intute's IRS
 - Data mining
- Third party mash-ups – e.g. Repository66

The Directory of Open Access Repositories - OpenDOAR

Search for repositories | Search repository contents | List of repositories | Repository Statistics

OpenDOAR is an authoritative directory of academic open access repositories. Each OpenDOAR repository has been visited by project staff to check the information that is recorded here. This in-depth approach does not rely on automated analysis and gives a quality-controlled list of repositories.

As well as providing a simple repository list, OpenDOAR lets you search for repositories or search repository contents. Additionally, we provide tools and support to both repository administrators and service providers in sharing best practice and improving the quality of the repository infrastructure. Further explanation of these features is given in a project document Beyond the list.

The current directory lists repositories and allows breakdown and selection by a variety of criteria - see the Find page - which can also be viewed as statistical charts. The underlying database has been designed from the ground up to include in-depth information on each repository that can be used for search, analysis, or underpinning services like text-mining. The OpenDOAR service is being developed incrementally, developing the current service as new features are introduced. A list of Upgrades and Additions is available.

Developments will be of use both to users wishing to find original research papers and for service providers like search engines or alert services which need easy-to-use tools for developing tailored search services to suit specific user communities.

The importance and widespread support for the project can be seen in its funders, led by the Open Society Institute (OSI), along with the Joint Information Systems Committee (JISC), the Consortium of Research Libraries (CURL) and SPARCEurope.

OpenDOAR has also been identified as a key resource for the Open Access community (K.B.Oliver & R.Swain, 2006 - PDF), and was one of the services which contributed to SHERPA being awarded the SPARC Europe Award for Outstanding Achievements in Scholarly Communications.

More information on the project is available on this site through the About page.
